

LEBANESE FINANCIAL SECTOR: ARE INSTITUTIONS READY FOR EU GDPR?

MONDAY MAY 14, 2018 | 9.00 AM - 3.00 PM
SOFITEL BEIRUT LE GABRIEL

OBJECTIVES

The EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) was adopted by the European Union in 2016. It is due go live across Europe on 25th May 2018. It is the single most important development in European data protection law in the last 20 years and will fundamentally change the way organisations handle personal data. Due to its pervasive nature, the impact of GDPR will be felt by companies across the globe. Financial institutions offering products and services into the European Union or are processors for EU data controllers, will be affected by GDPR. One fifth of Lebanon's nominal GDP is derived from foreign remittances which could potentially place obligations on financial institutions based in Lebanon to comply with GDPR requirements.

- Our workshop will help Lebanon based financial institutions to understand the impact of GDPR and its regulatory requirements;
- We will present case studies of scenarios by which different non-EU based companies could be caught up by the regulation; and
- Our workshop will empower decision makers and business heads with the knowledge to assess when and how GDPR will impact their organisations, and what they must do to be compliant.

WORKSHOP OUTLINE

- Purpose of GDPR
- GDPR Article 3 - Territorial scope of GDPR
- Controllers and Processors definition and legal responsibility
